WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

In the heart of the bustling city, Dakshita Bhatla's life was a fusion of structured architecture and successful corporate management. Long before planning weddings, she spent a decade immersed in a versatile design career, starting with Architecture at eighteen and transitioning into a successful corporate leader. But when love burst onto the scene, her world transformed into a whirlwind of excitement and passion.

While planning her own wedding, Dakshita faced challenges that ignited her creativity and determination. Through the chaos and excitement, Dakshita's passion soared, giving birth to DB And Spaces - a company driven by love, dreams, and a touch of whimsy. With each celebration, DB And spaces vowed to turn ordinary moments into extraordinary memories, proving that even the most structured plans can't contain the magic of love.

Starting as the greatest undertaking Dakshita had ever embarked upon, from within the confines of her own wedding planning, her story has now blossomed into a brand that remains deeply driven by its core philosophies!

DELIVERING DREAMS, BOUNTIFULLY!

Local is the way!

For Destination Weddings, it is natural for us to source locally, and over time, our brand has built a commitment to working with artisans and resources that resonate with a landscape's identity. We thereby have a significant thrust towards curating local craftsmen, materials and palettes.

Let's get involved!

As someone who planned her own, we understand the jitters that come with planning a wedding. Hence, we believe in ideating and working closely with the people involved so we never miss a fleeting thought, a beat or a vision. And we deliver!

Call it a clan, call it a network, call it a tribe...!

We put ourselves in your shoes and understand that weddings come with families, and delicate relationships and that they take time and attention to maintain. We choose to be here for not just the couple getting hitched but also their people - in all the ways you need for us to be.

We take our jobs seriously!

As weddings are a thousand decisions to make, we work with a model of segregating decision-making across a meticulously put-together schedule. We strongly believe in delegation and thereby assign specialised teams for the many different sectors—from Entertainment to Hospitality.

With us, you have to trust us and let us roll. We will show up, do our best and beyond!
